

The Youth Mediators have been extremely successful in the work that they do - They have been recognised by a number of organisations

Peer Mediators trained and supervised by Mel Bruce of Calm Mediation have won the following awards:

- Ambassadors for Peace
Universal Peace Federation
Interreligious and International Federation for World Peace
Youth Mediator's receive awards Greenwich
- Global Ethics Award - The Youth Awards Programme
- promoting human rights as a set of shared ethical values across the UK – Euston
- Making the Peace award - The Youth Justice Board at the Savoy Hotel for London Week of Peace
- Best service for young people by young people - The Specialist Schools Trust - Manchester University
- Peer Mediation Group of the year - Peerlink - Church House, Westminster
- Peer Mediator of the Year – John Sesay wins National Peerlink award for resolving conflict in school

- Simon Hughes award for Citizenship - Bacon's College - Key stage 3, 4 and 5 prize giving reception
- 'Enough is Enough' young people (group) award - The Safer Southwark Partnership - The Star Auditorium, The Tate Modern
- Best Mentor award – Melanie Bruce The Kids Count inspiration awards at the House of Commons
- Inspector Russell Denton award - The Russell Denton Trust -The Unicorn Theatre
- 'Enough is Enough' Community members taking a stand (group) award - The Safer Southwark Partnership - The Star Auditorium, The Tate Modern
- Leap Fighting the Fire awards - Leader in Conflict Management
- IARS – Independent Academic Research Studies, Partnership Award, Southwark Mediation Centre (now merged with Calm Mediation) & Bacon's College
- Voluntary sector - Highly commended Award Peer Mediator Rayhan Ahmed.

Over the years, Peer Mediators have spoken twice at the House of Commons, featured on BBC News 24, BBC3 and have also appeared in articles in the Guardian.